5. Presentation and Update on the EFARS Project
   Peggy Layne gave a presentation on the EFARS project and showed the group some of the screens that were included. The university purchased this system to collect faculty information and store it in a central place. The data includes publications, awards and outreach activities, to name a few, in relation to faculty works. The purpose of the presentation is to identify items of data entry screens and “clean up” some of the areas that need attention.

   The model is based upon the annual faculty activity report and most of the colleges are currently captured. On the Provost’s website, there is information regarding EFARS and guides for the different colleges to include CAUS, CLAHS, COE and COS.

   The vendor is Digital Measures. There are different sections: 1) Scholarship/Research; 2) Service; 3) Assessment and Goals to name a few.

   Discussion included that in addition to the external connections and partnership that includes outreach, to perhaps add an international category. Discussion also included uplifting engagement and international on the initial EFARS data entry page. Extension/Engagement was suggested as a major category as well as discovery, Learning and Engagement.

   A suggestion was made to add a “?” for help and definitions. The faculty are in control of what data and edits to previous entries are made. A date is also associated with the data that is entered.
Peggy asked if there might be volunteers from this group to provide detailed feedback, Gary Long volunteered.
